

Kyle Clark, a junior at Delaware Valley High School, is a versatile student who enjoys keeping busy. Clark is a member of National Honor Society, FBLA and Student Council. He also is an active participant on both the football and baseball teams. “Being involved has allowed me to build social skills that I wouldn’t have otherwise,”

Clark said. According to Clark’s teachers, he is a hardworking, bright and insightful student. He never refuses a challenge and his desire to excel is exceptional. Clark also volunteers for United Way’s Day of Caring, the local CROP walk and other Student Council charity work. “Volunteering has given me the ability to see the amount of help that one can provide by simply helping out for even a few hours,” he said.

---

Junior Delaware Valley High School baseball player Matt Rivera will be headed to Tucson, Arizona in January to compete at the 2013 Under Armour Pre-Season All-America Tournament. These All-Americans are selected based on a strong performance at a previous Baseball Factory event or recommendation by a pro scout. According to Baseball Factory, the tournament will feature the top high school players in a 20-team wood bat tournament. Teams will be broken up by region to compete for the Under Armour Pre-Season All-America Tournament championship. Rivera plays for the Northeast Region. Pro scouts representing 23 of the 30 Major League Baseball teams attended the event in the past two years. “Being part of this wonderful opportunity has made the recruiting process so much easier for me,” Rivera said. “I walk into an event and coaches actually know who I am.” The Under Armour Pre-Season All-America Tournament is a key step in the Road to Wrigley Field and the Under Armour All-America game that will be held in the summer of 2013. If Rivera performs well at January’s event, he may be one of the 37 chosen for this once-in-a-lifetime experience. “I have a tremendous amount of confidence at this point,” he said. “I feel like I am excelling and using each event as a stepping stone to bigger and better things.”