

Samantha Buldo, a senior at Delaware Valley High School, is a focused student who seems to be able to “do it all.” Buldo is an AP Scholar and was noted as the “Most Outstanding in Orchestra” by her fellow classmates. She is a member of String Orchestra, Symphony Orchestra, Chamber String Orchestra, String Quartet and String Quintet. She is also a member of National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, Peer Buddies and Jr. Historians. Being recognized as a member of the High Honor Roll is something Buldo is familiar with. “Being involved in school-related activities has allowed me to meet students with similar interests and goals,” she said. On her free time, she has been able to play music for the residents of local nursing homes. Furthermore, she volunteers for the Delaware Valley Choral Society, Veteran’s Day Dinner, United Way’s Day of Caring and more. “Volunteer work has affected me by allowing me to realize how crucial it is to help others,” Buldo said. “It feels so good to give back to the community and those who need it.” She will be attending Misericordia University in the fall to study speech-language pathology.
